The Sansin Corporation announces expansion of Dealer Network.

Strathroy, Ontario, Canada, June 3, 2009 – Due to the increasing demand for Sansin products, the Sansin Corporation is pleased to announce an expansion to their dealer network. Sansin has established five new regional dealer relationships who will be providing their customers with Sansin's complete range of environmentally-friendly wood coatings and sealants that deliver outstanding performance and beauty.

With environmental awareness at an all-time high, customers are looking for companies that can provide them with green solutions. As the leader in environmentally-friendly wood coatings, Sansin Classic, a penetrating formula, offers superior protection with VOC's of less than 200 g/l while competitive products are at 350 g/l. "Sansin looks for dealers who share the passion for the beautification of wood through environmentally friendly applications," states Sjoerd Bos, Vice-President of the Sansin Corporation. "We are pleased to welcome aboard these new regional dealers who will bring a wealth of knowledge and support to our growing customer base."

With penetrating formulas that combine alkyd solids with water, Sansin Enviro Stains offer a proven track record in innovative wood protection. They're easy to maintain and unlike film-build coatings, they don't crack or peel. With a range of over 80 colors available, Sansin offers a full spectrum of beautiful colors to choose from.

About Sansin – for over 20 years, Sansin has pioneered the use of environmentally-friendly water-borne wood protection technologies that deliver outstanding performance. Sansin Classic is an industry leader in penetrating wood protection. The unique water-borne technology used in Sansin Enviro Stains means that color is drawn into the wood for richer, fuller hues. Classic penetrates like traditional petroleum based products – without the impact on the environment associated with oil-based stains.
